Alexander Castro

Prior Soldier turned Full Stack Developer
Phoenix, Arizona, United States

Summary

Dedicated full stack developer with a background in military service, teaching, and social media marketing, who hopes to improve at creating efficient and innovative web solutions.

Previously I created content to help others through tough times, as a survivor myself I dedicated my content to mental health awareness. I hope to further my career as a developer to create services that help content creators help others smile and be happy more effectively!
